Governors of New York Stock Exange Will Meet To-Day in Attempt to Settle Problem.

Time Believed Not Yet Ripe for Reopening Exchange for General Business, Lest It Bring Great Flood of Selling Orders.

NEW YORK, November 22.—The governors of the New York Stock Exchange will meet to morrow te discuss the advisability of resuming public trading in bonds under specified restrictions.

This subject was freely discussed by members to day, and the opinion prevailed that the time was not ripe for public trading. The Continental Investor, remarked the head of an international bond house, "linds lilmself without any market, although his iolidings have been well diversified. What were prime investments in Spean, France, Africa or South America, are without any kind of a market to-day, and the reestablishment of a market for American bonds would, in my opinion, result in heavy selling for foreign account, as our market would afford the only means of procuring cash at a time when the demand for ready monay overshadows any consideration of safety of principal and stability of interest, fetures."

Stockbrokers admit that the question of reopening the Stock Exchange is out of their hands, but many agree with the writer that the establishment of a cash market for trading in industrial and traction issues under the minimum prices eatablished might be undertaken, and that this move would have the same stimulating effect that followed the recumption of trading on the curb and the reopening of the Octon Exchange.

Dealings in listed railread stocks, with a London exchange closed, no doubt puld piace the American investor at a rious disadvantage. Under the present sid censorship in England, news of an apportant victory or detent could be without the fours, while full sivantage of a information might be taken in the ock market. Then there is no dodging to disagreeable conclusion on the freight te case. Railroad stocks do not appeal any strongly to the public as an investent or as a speculation.

Trading was resumed in Chicago to-day stocks. There was no undue excitement, and prices were firm.

Reopening of the Chicago Stock Exchange tracted considerable attention. Local spot brokers report that domestic mills are still holding off as a rule, owing to the larce available supply, and expectations that it ultimately will make a better buying basis, and the bulk of the present demand is supposed to come from abroad. To-day's exports were the largest reported for any one day since the beginning of the war, amounting to $5.557 bales, which brought the total for the senson up to 1.01.977 bales. AN ERA OF PROSPERITY

Is rapidly approaching for the South, and nowhere can this tendency be noted more forcibly than in Atlanta, the pulse of the South.

Because of its climate and unusual railroad facilities, Atlanta's growth is a natural one. These natural advantages are further augmented by the progressiveness of its citizenry. There could be no better combination to safeguard a city's consistent growth.

The opening of the Regional Bank on November 16 was an additional impetus to Atalnta's development; the significance of which, as an indication of Atlanta's financial strength, is patent.

Atlanta's Real Estate Is Steadily Enhancing. You Can't Go Wrong On It.

Our offerings are most stable, being loans based on Atlanta real estate at 40 to 50 per cent of the actual expert valuation. In the 20 years that we have been in business, not a client has ever lost a dollar through us in either principal or interest. This record is proof positive of our conservatism

Although 7 per cent is the prevailing rate, we will continue temporarily to try to get 8 per cent for our clients.
